The architect explained that construction would begin after the winter season ends. A vote on the final design is planned for the next regular meeting of the council.

The committee met on Tuesday to review the proposal for the new library building. Members asked about the schedule, the budget and the plan for the parking area.