The committee met on Tuesday to review the plans for the library. Members asked about the schedule, budget, and planned parking.

The architect said work would start after the winter season ends. A vote is planned for the next regular meeting of the council.

Residents may send written comments before the end of the month.